

9. Community Health Scan Information*

The Community Health Scan Report provides a snapshot of people's overall impressions of the quality of health and social programs available to Yukon First Nations people in 2008 and 2009.

The Community Health Scan participants included both citizens and staff of all 14 First Nations and as a result, the information collected reflects the experiences of individuals in their attempts to use and/or deliver health and social programs in the Yukon.

In this section of the toolkit, you will find several executive summaries of the Community Health Scan Report. A final written copy of the Community Health Scan Report with a disk containing a PDF of the report is also located at the front of this toolkit.

An electronic version of the report in Microsoft Word is also on the enclosed disk at the front of the toolkit.

This material has many potential uses.

The Word copy of the report is included so that you can “cut and paste” information from the Community Health Scan report when you write proposals, health plans or other documents that require evidence.

In addition, the PDF of the document can be transferred to your desktop computer so that you will have a copy of the resource readily available to use as a reference or to send to others.

This material can also be used as a spring board for further discussions and community planning work conducted by health and social staff or consultants hired by the First Nations.

The Council of Yukon First Nations would like to hear your suggestions on ways this material could be shared and utilized.

*Funding for this project was provided by Health Canada through the Aboriginal Health Transition Fund. The opinions expressed in this document are those of the authors/researchers/participants and do not necessarily reflect the official views of Health Canada or the Council of Yukon First Nations. This information in this document can be shared for non-commercial purposes only.1

Please contact the Council of Yukon First Nations Health and Social Development Department at (867) 393-9240 if you would like to suggest other ways this material could be put to good use or if you would like a copies of any of these materials.

In addition, you will find a USB key or 'memory stick' containing the raw data that was collected during the Community Health Scan in your community at the front of this toolkit. Please see the next section, Section 10, for more information about this community-specific material and possible uses of the information.