

Contents

1. Yellow – List of Funding Sources - Funds available from governments, foundations and other funders are listed in this section. Emphasis is placed on funds for initiatives in the areas of health and social development, justice, heritage and culture and the environment.

2. Amber – List of Facilitators, Consultants and Organizations - This section contains a list of people and organizations that do work directed towards community health planning, health and social development and efforts to increase capacity.

3. Orange – Proposal Writing Fact Sheet – This short guide outlines all the steps you might want to take when writing a proposal and other tips.

4. Pink – Evaluation Information – A short guide about evaluations and an evaluation form are in this section.

5. Purple – Resources – This section contains different types of resources:

- A list of practical guides, websites, DVDs, directories of Yukon agencies and “How To” manuals.
- A detailed list of training programs in Yukon.
- Information about Treatment Centres in BC and Alberta.
- Lists of names and contact information for First Nation Liaison staff at hospitals in BC and Alberta and accommodations near the hospitals.

Hard copies of several of the guides and directories on this list can also be found in the toolkit.

6. Indigo – Forms and Guides – This section contains several different documents that might be useful to health and social staff in the course of their work. The following are included:

- Several guides on how to write briefing notes for different purposes.
- An events planning checklist.
- A form to record grievances with health and social service providers.

7. Blue – Culturally-Relevant Holistic Health Planning Information – One document in this section briefly covers people's impressions of this conference about this topic and the main “lessons learned.” This section also includes worksheets from the conference that one could use for community health planning and related activities.

8. Teal – Fall School Health and Social Planning Worksheets – These documents cover all the main steps involved in community health planning that were covered during Fall School.

9. Dark Green – Community Health Scan Information – A final written copy of the Community Health Scan Report and several executive summaries are included in the toolkit.

10. Bright Green – Raw Data – Community-Specific Health Scan Information - Also included is another copy of the raw data from the Community Health Scan that is specific to your First Nation community to be used for health and social planning. It can be found on the USB key or 'memory stick' at the front of the toolkit and additional information about this material is in this last section.